

GitHub Pull Request Template

🕒 Created	@July 30, 2024 2:50 PM
🕒 Updated	@September 16, 2024 1:18 PM

Here's the template that you need to put in the .md file. Follow these instructions.

This is what it looks like:

Conversation 0   Commits 1   Checks 2   Files changed 1

 commented 2 weeks ago

---

PR Description

A one-liner for reviewers with just 10 seconds to spare.

Motivation

- 🐛 If Bug: Provide a brief explanation of the problem. What triggered the need for this PR?
- 🎫 If Ticket: Outline the goals to be achieved with this change

Solution

- Concisely describe the solution and explain why it addresses the motivation.

Background (if time permits)

- Offer a quick rundown of the previous state. For instance, if your changes affect B, revisit the entire A -> B -> C flow.

Resources

- 📸 Attach relevant snapshots.
- 📺 Share informative videos.
- 📄 Include links to relevant articles.

The Template.md

```
🚀 PR Description A one-liner for reviewers with just 10 seconds to spare.
```

```
Motivation
```

```
- 🐛 If Bug: Provide a brief explanation of the problem. What triggered the need for this PR?
```

```
- 🎫 If Ticket: Outline the goals to be achieved with this change
```

```
Solution
```

```
- Concisely describe the solution and explain why it addresses the motivation.
```

```
Background (if time permits)
```

- Offer a quick rundown of the previous state. For instance, if your changes affect B, revisit the entire A -> B -> C flow.

## Resources

- 📷 Attach relevant snapshots.
- 📺 Share informative videos.
- 📖 Include links to relevant articles.

## Gentle Reminder

* [How to Conduct a Code Review]( <https://adirhere.medium.com/7-tips-for-a-healthy-code-review-culture-6c8a867de388> )

Credit: Adir Duchan